Workers get Bldg. T-416, formerly the military personnel flight, ready to begin its role as the Lajes Clinic. The project's total cost is around $7 million and the moving process begins Sept. 15.

Clinic staff ready to move to new home

SSgt. Rosaire Bushey
Editor

The fences have come down and some of the trucks have left. Soon, Bldg. T-416 will be bustling again - but not with construction workers - but rather with medical staff and patients.

The renovation of T-416, a project which has a total cost of $7 million, came just in time as the former base hospital building deteriorated to the point of no longer being serviceable as a hospital.

"The old hospital - while much larger - was built in 1956 and was only intended to last 10 years," said Lt. Col. Roy Ruff Jr., 65th Medical Group Commander. "For the past three decades, the facility has undergone a series of projects and 'band-aid' repairs to keep it operational, however, it was clearly nearing the end of its service life."

The new facility, which once housed the military personnel flight, educa-

Important clinic dates

- Sept. 15-19 — No routine appointments will be available due to the clinic move. Same-day acute appointments can be made by calling Ext. 23239. All patients will still be seen at T-241 (old hospital).

- Sept. 20 — Acute care clinic will move from T-241 to T-416 (new clinic). Patients should call Ext. 24233 for instructions.

- Sept. 21 — All acute care patients will be seen at T-416.

- Sept. 22 — Limited routine appointments will be available. All patients will be seen at T-416

- Sept. 22-26 — All occupants of T-427 will move to T-425 including the 65th Medical Group command section, optometry, flight medicine, bioenvironmental engineering and public health.

- Sept. 26 — Ribbon cutting ceremony.

August Yard of the Month Winners

The following are the winners of the Yard of the Month award for August.

T-31A - Lt. Col. Otha and Iris Solomon

T-119D - GM-13 Laurence and Ann Rocco

T-1560D - MSgt. Mark and Roseann Martin

T-2B - SSgt. Martin and Aundria Collins

Recycling tips

- When recycling be sure to shred all papers with confidential or Privacy Act protected information such as social security numbers, before recycling them.

- Bag shredded paper. This makes it easier to handle and reduces the chance it will blow away during handling.

Lajes is starting a compact disk recycling program and organizations should turn in their outdated CDs to: SSgt. Tony Liles, 65th Communications Squadron, Ext. 25133.

- CDs must be scratched on both sides to render them unusable.

- Packaging, such as cases, labels and envelopes, may be left on the discs to be recycled.

- CDs containing confidential or classified information should not be recycled.

For more information, call the environmental flight at Ext. 23101.

Town Meeting for Youth

There will be a town meeting to discuss issues associated with the child development center and the Lajes Youth Program Tuesday at 6 p.m. in the community center. Teen program issues will also be discussed during the meeting. A panel of people including Lou Denham, family member support flight chief; Marcia Amaro, child development center director; and Ricky Crum, teen center director, will be available to answer questions.

School closed

There will be a staff in-service on Sept. 12 and there will be no school for high school students.

$30,000 in scholarships available for Air Force spouses

ARLINGTON, Va. — Thirty, $1,000 scholarships will be awarded to spouses of Air Force active-duty, Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve members who are pursuing an associate/bachelor undergraduate or graduate/post graduate degrees in January.

Undergraduate students must be enrolled in the current semester with a minimum of six credit hours as well as in the spring when the scholarship is awarded.

Graduate/post graduate students must carry a minimum of three credit hours. The scholarship is open to all academic programs.

Spouses who are themselves military members are not eligible. Also, in memory of Janet R. Wisemandle, an Air Force spouse who passed away last year, there will be an additional scholarship of $500. There is not a separate application for this scholarship.

Selection criteria for the scholarship consists of proof of acceptance into an accredited community college/college/university, three letters of recommendation, verification of spouse status, proof of a minimum overall 3.5 grade point average and a two-page double-spaced letter describing the applicant's academic goals and community service. Scholarship funds are sent directly to the college/university and may be used to pay for tuition, books or transportation costs.

Applications must be post-marked to the Aerospace Education Foundation by Oct. 27, 1997. They are available at the base education office or by using an automatic faxing service by dialing 1-800-232-3563 and requesting document #856.

For more information, contact the base education office at Ext. 25291 or call the Aerospace Education Foundation at (703) 247-5839.

tion office and several other sections, will contain about 35,000 square feet of space in two buildings: T-416 and T-425. Aside from the new building, money has also been spent for new hospital furniture as well as new equipment to include $380,000 for a fluoroscopic radiology system which is scheduled to be installed in November.

"As of two weeks ago we were 96 percent complete with the renovation," Ruff said. "We are on schedule for a Sept. 15 completion date. It will be hectic for about a week or so after the building is finished while we get situated into the new facility, but the end result will be better health care and a better environment for our patients and staff."

The move won't affect the dental or mental health clinics; flight medicine, along with public health, optometry, bioenvironmental engineering, the command section and administrative offices will be housed in Bldg. T-425.

The family practice clinic, acute care, pediatrics, obstetrics, pharmacy, lab and radiology will move to Bldg. T-416.

- Routine appointments will not be taken the week of Sept. 15 to 21.

- Same day acute appointments will be taken at Bldg. T-241 (old hospital) - call Ext. 23239

- The acute care clinic will relocate Sept. 20 and 21. Call Ext. 24233 for information.

- Patients will be seen at the new clinic beginning Sept. 22.

- Ambulance service will NOT be interrupted during the move.

Aquaknights find missing treasure for man in Praia

1st Lt. Todd Bergman
65th Transportation Squadron

Having already bicycled around the island, I was preparing to complete another personal goal of swimming across Praia Bay. I enlisted the help of two friends with kayaks, one to keep me on course and his lifeguard wife to rescue me if needed. After an hour of swimming we arrived at the commercial pier and started to discuss Phase 2, the trip back to the military port. It was decided that my life guard friend would swim back and I would paddle her kayak.

I had never been in a kayak, but felt confident I could make it back. After being counseled on its operation, how to get out if I roll it over and ensuring the straps holding me in were secured, my life guard friend prepared to enter the water. I noticed her wedding ring and asked if she wanted to take it off so she wouldn't lose it while she swam. She thought it was a good idea but her husband was too far from the dock. I was holding onto the dock for stability, so I offered my finger, but when she tried to put it on it wouldn't fit. As I leaned across to help her, I let go of the dock, at that very moment the kayak moved causing me to fumble the ring. As if in slow motion, I watched her wedding ring fall into Praia Bay.

Acting on instinct, I went after it, forgetting I was strapped into the kayak. Struggling to reach the ring and trying to escape from the kayak, I watched the ring disappear into 40 feet of dark murky water. When I surfaced, my friends were concerned about my safety, but all I could say was how sorry I was for losing her ring. Needless to say the trip back to the military port was a somber one, wishing I could relive the last five minutes of my life. Once we arrived at the MPC, I noticed John Hamilton and Jay Carpenter, both Aquaknight members talking on the beach. I told them what had happened and they said they would be glad to go look for the ring.

They gathered their gear and we went back to the dock. As they suited up, a few local fishermen were talking about the five sharks they had caught that day causing an uncomfortable look between me and my lifeguard friend. Once ready, John jumped into the water and in doing so, lost his weight belt. By this time, we were convinced this spot must be cursed. Jay said he'd go find the belt and after about five minutes we noticed a flurry of air bubbles coming to the surface.

Jay rose to the surface wide eyed describing a manta ray bigger than his Jeep which he had startled while looking for the weight belt. With weight belt secured, both divers descended once again to look for the ring.

After about five minutes they surfaced with a beautiful conch shell and unbelievably the missing wedding ring. Having said thank you as many times as I had said sorry to my friend, we started back to base in search of a fitting reward for my heroes.

I learned three things that Sunday afternoon. First, there's more sharks in the bay than I want to know about. Second, never secure valuables from a boat while holding onto the dock. And third, never underestimate the Aquaknights. They are helpful, extremely capable and unbelievably lucky.

I would like to thank my friends for allowing me to stretch our friendship and their marriage further than I should have and to John and Jay for their willingness to help and their positive attitude. They definitely turned a tragedy into triumph.

Shopping spree

SSgt. Valerie Bolejack, Detachment 6, Air Force Broadcasting Service, scrambles through the commissary on a 60-second shopping spree. The spree was the result of a contest put on by the Army and Air Force Exchange Service New Car Sales. Bolejack socked away $232.70 worth of goods during her minute - much of it from the meat case. "For the record, I didn't go near the milk," she said after her run. New Car Sales is also donating a 21-inch TV to be given away Sept. 18 as part of the club's grand opening. Members can sign up at the club for the drawing.

While driving by the swimming area in Porto Martins I noticed the restaurant located next to that area was closed. Will it open again for business?

The restaurant mentioned in your question was formerly called Ponta Negra and reopened for business Aug. 15 under a new management.

The restaurant is now called Buzius and was closed for about two months due to a change of management.

The place is actually owned by the City Hall of Praia which contracts the restaurant facilities to individuals or businesses for a certain period of time.
